Housing Partnership Helps Family Purchase First Home

After renting for years, Kevin and Corree Bennett were ready to settle into a home. But the young couple’s low salaries and weak credit scores made their dream seem impossible—until they heard about the Indianapolis Neighborhood Housing Partnership (INHP). The Bennetts took the Indiana CDFI’s Home Buyer Class, and received one-on-one education and guidance. A few months later, the Bennetts purchased a new home for their family.

("We wanted to own our own house, not rent anymore, and not waste our money… INHP works!"

Kevin Bennett
Homeowner

Impact

• Counseling from INHP gave the Bennett Family the financial literacy and freedom to purchase a home
